LEXINGTON, KENTUCKY, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1942

US Army Air Forces
Mental Exams Set
Monday, TuesdayTest To Be Given
Two Times Daily
To Men 18 To 27

Mental examinations for aviation cadet training in the Army Air Forces will be conducted Monday and Tuesday in the Health Building, according to Lieut. William Humber, who will be in charge of the board.

Examinations will be given twice daily, at 8:30 a.m. and at 1 p.m. for men between the ages of 18 and 27. Before appearing for examination, candidates should complete official application blanks and are required to furnish three letters of recommendation, a birth certificate or affidavit by their parents, signed in the presence of a notary public.

Application Blanks

Application blanks may be obtained from the nearest Army Recruiting office, or from the local American Legion, or by writing to Aviation Cadet Examining Board No. 3, 318 Union Central building, Cincinnati, Ohio. This is the new location of the board which until recently was stationed in Lexington.

Men who successfully complete their aviation cadet training become flight officers or second lieutenants, with monthly pay of $291 for single officers and $327 for married men. Aviation cadets also receive a free clothing allowance and are insured to the extent of $10,000 while in training.

Air Force Reserve

College students who desire to continue their training may enlist in the Air Force Reserve and will be permitted to remain in school until graduation, or until called to duty by the War department.

All Women Invited To Open House

Members of the House committee of the Union board wish to make clear the fact that all University women are automatically invited to attend the Sunday Open House for service men held from 3 to 5 p.m. in the Music room of the Union building.

Attendance of women at these affairs has been falling off considerably, and committee members feel that it is due to misunderstanding on the women's part. No special invitations are issued for these open houses. All women are urged to attend as often as possible.

NAVY DECORATES
UK GRADUATE,
DAVID R. BERRYHero Receives
Navy Cross For Action At Tulagi

For distinguished service in battle against the Japanese in the Pacific, Lieut. David R. Berry, U. S. N. R., Owensboro, recently received his second decoration in recent months. Berry was graduated from the engineering college in 1938.

Now stationed at the Jacksonville Naval Air Base, Jacksonville, Fla., Berry, at the ceremony, was presented the Navy Cross for his heroic fighting at Tulagi Harbor and in the Coral Sea battle.

Berry's first award, the Navy Gold Star, was for distinguished service in the Battle of Midway.

The Kentuckian was a standout member of a bombing squadron which sank or seriously damaged eight enemy vessels in Tulagi Harbor and an enemy carrier in the Coral Sea. A pilot in the neutrality patrol to England before the outbreak of hostilities on December 7, Berry participated in raids on the Marshall and Gilbert Islands, attacks on Salamua and Lae, as well as in other actions.

Forum Committee
To Merge With
Woman's Club Group

At a joint meeting held Monday in the Student Union building, the International Relations Department of the Lexington Woman's Club, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Sarah B. Holmes, dean of women, joined with the War Forum group of the Union in a move to collaborate in their interests in the world situation.

According to Mrs. Holmes, the two groups will hold a meeting at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon in the Union to discuss plans and programs for the coming year.

The War Forum holds meetings every Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock to discuss news of the day. Betty Howard and Terry Noland are co-chairmen of the committee.

Simpson Decorated
In African Battle

Capt. Gordon Simpson, a graduate in the class of '37, has been awarded the Silver Star for his performance in the African campaign, according to a cablegram received from the Army headquarters in Africa.

A University football star, Captain Simpson received the rank of second lieutenant upon his graduation from the R. O. T. C. unit, but did not enter active service until 1940. He was promoted to the rank of captain last February.

Captain Simpson was the first United States soldier ashore in Morocco on Nov. 8, when he led 150 assault troops down the side of a destroyer that had been swung stern first into the shore. The initial group then silenced nearby French batteries on cliffs overlooking the harbor, and held off French counter-attacks until a wave of reinforcements was able to relieve them.

Art Shown In Action
In Exhibit At UnionDisplay Planned
For December 6

"Art in Action" is the theme-title of the year's first art exhibit to be presented December 6 in the Music room, Union building, under the sponsorship of the Student Union Art committee.

Different from the usual art exhibit, this one is planned to let the layman see what goes on behind the scenes in the production of the finished works usually shown to the public. In addition, the artists have decided that many people possess hidden talent and have made provision for visitors to try their hands.

The artists will be working with a living model, "creating" in oil, clay, water color, charcoal, wood, tempera and other media. The processes of lithography and puppet making will be exhibited.

Susan Jackson and Mary Mason Taylor are in charge of publicity

These seven winners in Tuesday's beauty contest will be presented as Kentuckian queen and six attendants at the Christmas formal. PHI U OMICRON
TO INITIATE 10
Services Held
At Cooper Home

Formal initiation services for ten pledges of Phi Upsilon Omicron, honorary home economics fraternity, will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow afternoon at the home of Dean and Mrs. Thomas Poe Cooper, head of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

Orinne Johnson, editor of the Phi U quarterly and a member of the staff of the Experiment Station, will speak at the initiation banquet, which will be held at 7 o'clock that night at the Lafayette hotel. Myrtle Binkley, president of Phi U, will preside.

Students who will be initiated are Mary Helen Manley, Mary Mason Taylor, Hazel Weakley, Dorothy Smithers, Charlene Lisanby, Patricia Thornton, Laverne Burnette, Mary Elizabeth Folmer, Marie Ratliff, and Louella Lawrence.

Ag Dance Tonight

An All-Ag dance will be held from 7:30 to 10:30 tonight at the Stock Pavilion, with music furnished by a nickelodeon, it has been announced.

The Home Economics club, sponsors of the dance, have stated that it is open to all students, not just those of the Agriculture college. Admission is 25 cents, couple or stag.

Schedule Help?

Students in the College of Commerce or Arts and Sciences who need advice on schedules for the second quarter, should call at the office of their respective deans any time between December 7 and 16, it has been announced.

for the exhibit. The social committee is composed of Eloise Bennett, Betsy Banks Stevenson, Henrietta Watts, Margaret Julia Wharton, Frances Bell, and Mary Mason Taylor.

Floor managers are Susan Jackson and Charles Boggs. The committee for making posters includes Charles Boggs, Kim Underwood, Virginia Callous, and Elizabeth Faulkner.

The hanging committee is Kate Woods, Archie Rainey, Carl Ratcliff, Esther Johnson, Elsie Fleishman, Agnes Jennings, and Marjorie Huntsinger.

Edith Weisenberger, chairman of the Union Art committee, is in charge of the exhibit.

An exhibit of finished works will be left up until Christmas. It will include woodcuts, etchings, lithographs, and oil paintings as well as a large mural done by John Hunsaker.

University Seers
Tell How To Pass
Bothersome ExamsBy ALICE WATKINS and
BETTY McLANAHAN

The mighty forces of Psychology, English, Chemistry, and Math are closing in—Yep, exam time is right here!

If you remember the brave stand made at the Alamo and the great spirit prevailing since Pearl Harbor, you won't unfurl the white flag of surrender to this crisis. You'll need these suggestions compiled after a limited survey was made by Kernel reporters.

To help you get a good grade, at least we hope so, Prof. M. C. Brown of the University mathematics department, stresses continued study throughout the entire quarter, therefore no review is needed before the final.

Dr. W. H. Galloway of the English department agrees that there should be no cramming for the final, but he suggests that a concise analysis of notes would be sufficient for review.

A combined outline of notes and work covered in your textbook, says Dr. Niel Plummer, head of the Journalism department, will, if thoroughly studied, give a complete background for the examination.

"Keep your feet warm and your head clear" was the suggestion made by one student when interviewed concerning her study habits.

Virginia Baskett, sophomore majoring in math, believes in plenty of rest and sleep, "don't stay up all night." She also suggests a careful study of notes, making a list of material covered in the subject such as former quizzes, etc.

Betty Jane Pugh, Journalism senior, had this to say: "If you don't have complete notes, you're sunk!" She wants plenty of quiet when she studies and believes in getting a general idea of what is in notes and textbook and then getting down to concentrated study. She underlines important phrases, too.

Beverly Griffith, education senior, suggests studying for one course at a time. "Do it in big doses." She also believes in plenty of rest and complete relaxation between study periods.

Of course, some people can study best with lots of noise around them while others must have absolute quiet. Some prefer to curl up in an easy chair while others will take the straight backed chair in the library. Then, too, there are those who prefer the textbook to the task of taking notes.

ODK-Cwens Sing
Set Next Quarter

The ODK-Cwens Sing, usually held before Christmas, will be presented early in the second quarter, Robert Hillenmeyer, president of Omicron Delta Kappa, has announced.

Due to the stress of wartime activities the two organizations who sponsor the sing together, have been unable to make plans for the affair to be held this quarter, Hillenmeyer stated.

Organizations planning to enter the contest are advised to begin practice as soon as possible.

Service Men
Not "Wolfish"
Say UK Coeds

By MYRTLE WEATHERS

Soldiers and sailors are not wolves, at least in the opinion of several University co-eds.

After coming in contact with hundreds of Army men on the campus every day, the age-old feeling of the forwardness of service men has faded. The opinion now is that they are no more lycanthropes than are the typical "Joe Colleges" of the campus.

A decided difference has been noticed by female students, especially while riding on public conveyances, in that the small courtesies extended by the man in uniform greatly exceeds and shows up the aggressiveness of the average civilian.

It is the almost unanimous opinion of these so-called "gobs" and "yardbirds" that all they expect is a spirit of congeniality among the girls they become acquainted with while away from home.

If Public Citizen No. 1 would take a few lessons from Buck Private John Doe, he would learn that the age of chivalry did not die with Ashley Wilkes.

Students Advise
On "Sure" Cures
For Pesky Colds

By FILLMORE BOWEN

"I'm dreaming of a white Christmas," is on the minds of most students these days, but with white Christmases, cold weather and snow, comes the nasty old cold. Whether it is of the sneezing, nose running kind, or a coughing, chest jarring type, it detracts much from the glamor of the males. Many infallible home remedies for "a cold coming on" have been suggested.

Favorite among Kentucky students seems to be whiskey, good Kentucky Bourbon of course, and hoarhound candy. The first part of the formula will undoubtedly be liked by most students.

The more practical minded, and perhaps lazy students have come forth with a go-to-bed, eat no meat, and live on fruit juices remedy that may be helpful, if one has a servant to run out and bring the juices all day. At any rate the staying in bed seems a good idea.

A Massachusettes representative brought out a remedy that he claims is widely used up there—whiskey again, probably Back Bay Scotch, hot lemonade, and the stay in bed policy. Whiskey seems to be widely used in the cure of colds as well as other ailments. It is undoubtedly a great healer.

Other cures offered were plenty of aspirin, or cold pills, any of those you hear chanted about in story and song on the radio, all day; soda and water every hour, and honey with lemonade. These were only a few of the combinations recommended by students.

There are those optimistic students who say when they feel a cold coming on, they just let Nature take its course, and hope they don't come down with pneumonia, or influenza, and eventually it goes away.

Independents sold 60 annuals, Hamilton House, 25, and Shelby House, 8.

Hamburger Fry
Scheduled By Union Outing Club

A hamburger fry at Castletown Barn, Sunday, December 6, will be the last event of the quarter for the Outing club, according to an announcement received yesterday.

The group will leave the Union building at 5 p.m. on December 6. Guitar music will be played during the evening by Albert and William Craig, and singing led by Autell Beaton. Mrs. Sarah B. Holmes and Miss Jane Haselden will be guests for the event.

Campus Activities
Open To Soldiers

The University Publicity Bureau will begin distribution today of two leaflets listing facilities and entertainments offered on the campus for soldiers. This is part of a general University program for making soldiers taking special courses feel at home here.

The booklets contain a greeting from Dr. H. L. Donovan, president, and invitations to visit the library, music room, Union building, museums, and radio studios.

The soldiers are also invited to attend the dances and Sunday concerts and are asked to participate in sports events. Further general information is given and the Army men are urged to avail themselves of all University facilities permitted by their regulations.

"Y" Groups Take
Kyian Pictures

Kentuckian pictures of the various "Y" groups will be taken Tuesday evening in the "Y" lounge, Miss Rosalie Oakes, secretary, announced yesterday.

The schedule for the photographs is 6:45 p.m., senior and junior groups; 7, freshman club; and 7:15, sophomore commission.

Richardson was a youthful protégé of the late Lexington teacher, Miss Elizabeth T. Smith. He holds a Bachelor of Music degree from the New England Conservatory of Music and a Master's degree in Music from Yale University. In addition, he has studied at the Mozarteum Academy in Salzburg, Austria; the American Conservatory in Chicago; and the Cape Cod Institute

Lances Calls For Award Applicants

Tuesday is the last day on which applications will be accepted for the scholarships for junior men being offered by Lances, junior men's leadership honorary, it has been announced.

To compete for these awards, application must be made to Lances, Box 2787, University post office, and should include a letter giving qualifications and a short life history.

Lances members are not eligible to compete.

CAMPUS GROUP INSTALLED BY
ZETA BETA TAUGamma Tau Alpha,
Active 8 Years,
Goes National

Gamma Tau Alpha, campus social group, was officially installed as Alpha Iota chapter of Zeta Beta Tau, national Jewish fraternity, in formal services held last night at the Lafayette hotel.

Lee Dover, national secretary of Zeta Beta Tau; Rabbi Albert Lewis, and Tony Chapman, alumni; Richard Goldman, president of the Vanderbilt chapter; Milton Siskin, Tennessee president; and Jerry Pashin, president of the Miami chapter at Oxford, Ohio, formed the installation team.

Dr. T. T. Jones, dean of men, and Dr. M. M. White, assistant dean of the arts and sciences college, were University speakers at the installation banquet, which was attended by representatives of every fraternity on the campus, members of the Interfraternity council, and the Student Government association.

Marvin Churney, Louisville, is president of the newly installed chapter, which as Gamma Tau Alpha has been active on the campus for eight years. Lawrence Schneider, Bronx, N. Y., is secretary of the chapter, and Seymour Pudding, also of the Bronx, is treasurer.

Activities installed in last night's services included Churney, Schneider, Pudding, Robert Bookbinder, Herschel Lowenthal, Robert Gold, and Marvin Meyers.

Pledges installed were Morris Rozen, Stuart Urbach, Herman Miller, Bertram Klass, Richard Weil, Leonard Cohan, Daniel Lewis, Abraham Geller, Milton Goldberg, and Walter Siegal.

Gold acted as chairman of the installation banquet committee which was composed of Churney, Pudding, Klass, and Miller.

Junior Honorary
To Initiate Four

Lances, junior men's leadership honorary, will hold its initiation ceremony and banquet at 6 p.m. Thursday in the Football room of the Union building.

Ralph Hucaby, William Dunlap, Nixie Peak, and Jerry Macke will be initiated into the fraternity.

In addition to the actives and initiates, guests will include Bart Peak, Louis E. Hillenmeyer, and W. S. Ward, faculty advisor.

Akers, Eschborn,
Dudley, Shadwick,
Wilson Honored

Five students have been selected for membership in Omicron Delta Kappa, men's leadership honorary. Robert Hillenmeyer, president, announced.

The men chosen were Marvin Akers, Jeffersonville, Ind.; George Dudley, Sturgis, Ralph Eschborn, Buffalo, N. Y.; Othor Shadwick, Owensboro; and Jay Wilson, Hazel.

These five students were selected to the fraternity on the basis of scholarship, and campus service. They will be tapped in the traditional ODK pledging ceremony at noon today in Memorial hall. Initiation services are scheduled for next week.

Cager Co-Captain

Akers, an Education graduate, has been an outstanding athlete, with three letters in basketball, and two letters in baseball. He is co-captain of the varsity basketball team. He is men's vice-president of the SGA, president of the men's dormitory council, and a member of Kappa Delta Pi, education honorary, having a 2 standing for his University work.

Union Dance Head

Chairman of the Dance committee of the Union Board, George Dudley is a Commerce junior with a 2.2 standing. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon social fraternity, and a former member of the SGA. He has worked with the Men's Glee club for two years, and has been active in Pershing Rifles for two years.

Engineer Editor

An Engineering senior, Ralph Eschborn is editor of the Kentucky Engineer, a member of Tau Beta Pi, engineering honorary, and treasurer of Alpha Tau Omega, social fraternity. With a standing of 2.53, he has been active in Pershing Rifles for three years and was formerly treasurer of Keys, sophomore men's honorary. He is chairman of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and a member of Interfraternity council.

Guignol House Manager

Othor Shadwick, commerce senior, has a University standing of 2.58. He is house manager of Guignol theater, a member of Beta Gamma Sigma, commerce honorary; Lances, junior men's honorary, and Lamp and Cross. Shadwick has been active in the Men's Glee club for two years and is a member of the University Chorus.

Kernel Business Manager

Business manager of The Kernel, Jay Wilson, arts and sciences senior, has a standing of 2.25. He was summer editor of The Kernel and formerly advertising manager. Active with the Men's Glee club for one year, Wilson is also a member of Lances, junior men's honorary, and Patterson Literary society.

Radio Studios Call
For Script Writers

The University radio studios need script writers, according to an announcement received yesterday, and any student or staff member who is interested in this work is asked to notify Mrs. Lolo Robinson in the studios, third floor, McVey hall.

Writing for radio is an open field, Mrs. Robinson explained, and many former students who put in extra-curricular work in the University studios have used this experience well in positions acquired after graduation, she said.

By EUGENIA BROWN

Question: What do you think of exams being given in the last class periods instead of in the usual way?

Ralph Meyers, junior: "There'll be too many exams on the same day."

Mary Jo Whitehouse, sophomore: "It'll make an awful lot of studying in one night, and you really can't do your best work."

R. C. Rogers, junior: "I'm not in favor of it—too much last-minute rush."

Clayton Thomas, senior: "The old system was ideal, but too complicated for the present emergency."

Jane Land, sophomore: "I think it's a good idea, because they'll think it's over before Christmas vacation."

Harrison Dixon, junior: "I can't give it much. No one can do three months' work in one night."

Well, All We've Got To Say Is...

To the Editor of The Kernel:

Will some people never learn to look up the facts before they break loose with letters to the Editor? Don't students realize that nothing makes them look so ridiculous as going off "half cocked?"

Four girls have written a "nasty" bit of correspondence concerning Betty Jane Pugh's article about the draft—and they have been thoughtless enough to direct all of their sarcasm, at least they must think that it is sarcasm, at the writer.

Now, girls, here is what makes you look like the proverbial two cents. Miss Pugh was presenting facts—hard, cold facts. For three weeks she and the members of her staff interviewed student after student at this very University—please notice that it was your very own student body expressing these opinions. Then she carefully compiled her material and presented it as it was, not as she wanted it to be.

You, on the other hand, evidently know little, if anything, about journalistic practice. Have you never been told that writers for the press don't just sit down with a typewriter and compose the day's paper? So—here you go with your childish letter and not a single fact. You've even distorted those that were available to you.

May I suggest that you calm down and then reread the article? Not once did the writer say or even hint that she thought boys who did not join the armed forces were cowards. Not once did she express her own opinion in the matter. Phrases like "survey discloses," "conclusions are based on a campus-wide survey," and "when asked how they felt" should convince you that some research was done.

As for Miss Pugh's joining the WAACS, please look at the offending article. That paragraph is included with a group of quotations. It is enclosed within quotation marks, or are you mature enough to know that those little things mean that someone besides the writer is speaking? Or should she have written "she said" every three words?

I'll agree with you that there are many girls who would not go to war if given the chance. But Miss Pugh found overwhelming evidence for what she wrote and I feel sure that if you would go to The Kernel office, she would show you her notes and explain the entire situation.

So, I repeat, calm down, sisters. Next time look before you leap, or are you too immature to know what that means? It's disgusting, to say the least, to think that we have such childish students at the University.

W. W.

P.S. I noticed that the other letter written last week took a much more mature view of the situation and did not just blow off steam. He offered his opinion in a sane manner that showed he was peeved at the co-eds, not the unfortunate news editor.

Men Are Attacked, Girls Lauded In Story

To the Editor of The Kernel:

This letter is in answer to the feature which appeared in the November 24 issue of The Kernel, attacking the boys on the campus who hesitated to enter the war, and lauding the girls who said they would enlist if they could.

According to the writer, the girls would "gladly go to war, wouldn't have to be drafted." Boys who are trying to get all the education possible before entering the war are to be condemned, if the views expressed by this writer are to be taken seriously.

Here's my peeve. Girls know they're not going to be drafted, they know that their work is only of a voluntary nature. So why can't they be big-hearted and generous? Boys are drafted into service whether or no. Nowadays practically any male is a prospective army man, unless he is blind in both eyes, has only one arm or leg, or is a couple of centuries old.

For one thing, it is an almost universal fact that men, once they go to war, will never return to college even if they return from the battlefields. So, let them get all the education possible before leaving. Most people believe that some youths would be far more help at home in defense work than on the front line, but, of course, this plan will never be realized.

Girls have ample opportunities to serve the war effort in civilian enterprises, but they don't seem to be taking the idea very seriously. These Bundles for Britain and similar clubs aren't besieged by a great number of co-eds. The YWCA is currently sponsoring a similar program, but has about as much cooperation as a snake has hips.

Why don't these girls who are just anxious to shoulder a gun do their best by writing to soldiers, acting as hostesses at the downtown USO and stopover station? Why don't they get out and work and buy war bonds with the money derived therefrom?

I'm a co-ed, too, but I don't go around saying, "I'd be in the war in a minute if I had just had the chance." I don't say this 'cause I know I, just like several million teen-age kids, wouldn't, if I could.

Reminds me of people always saying what they'd do if they were president — saying it because they know they never will.

BETTY

UK Joan Of Arcs Not Well Informed

To the Editor of The Kernel:

Concerning the Joan of Arc co-eds on the campus, it seems that many of the feminine sex are not very well informed as to the real purpose of the military reserve. The United States Military Department has recognized that this global war is largely a war of machines, and that technically trained men are required to carry on such an enterprise. The department recognized each male college student as a potential officer in the armed forces. And since leadership and ability are developed along with education, he is encouraged to remain in school as long as practical — thus the military reserve corps.

Contrary to feminine opinion, these reserve groups were not organized merely to allow the college boy to continue enjoying life as usual, but to supply a vast reservoir of officer material for the armed forces. If every college man were to drop his books and take up arms immediately, the efforts of this nation to free the conquered people of the world would be in a sad state of affairs, both during and after the war. Perhaps it is best that our leaders do not foster the same point of views as many of our courageous young co-eds.

AN ENGINEER.

Bicarbonate of soda helps sometimes.

As the icy winds sweep across the frozen steppes of the Upper Don, we wonder if Adolf Hitler is having nightmares of the White Christmas, just like the ones he used to know.

It's As Cold As Blue Blazes

It undoubtedly turned colder Tuesday night than it ever did in one night before. We didn't even dare look at the thermometer, for fear that it would make us colder than we already were.

Guess every year some one says this is the coldest weather we ever had, or the hardest winter since back in the '80's. This may not be the coldest, but so far it is looking cold enough, and that snow that was covering the ground Wednesday was the hard dry kind that couldn't be any stretch of the imagination be called soft white rain.

And that wind was blowing hard enough out in the open spaces, but when it came whistling through those funnels made by adjacent buildings, it was a corker. Sitting in Spanish class down in the basement of Miller hall, we could not decide whether the snow was descending or ascending. Just when we would come to the conclusion that it was snowing in the accepted manner, a gust of wind would send the snow already on the ground swirling skyward.

After that, we made a dash for McVey hall and the Kernel office. Then we reverted to our usual habit of looking out the window to see what we could see. This time the snow looked like a smoke screen as it was swept straight up the road from Memorial hall to Rose street. The individual flakes were so tiny and shiny that they resembled bits of mica caught by a sunbeam.

We saw students trying to go to and from the BS building, and the light they had against the wind made us tired just to watch it. Heavy winter coats played the same tricks that skirts do when they are attacked by a March wind. But March never had a wind like this.

Don't think anyone tried to wear a brimmed hat, and the military students improvised chin straps.

Boots, ribbed stockings, and earmuffs made their first serious appearance, and they blossomed all over the campus. People were seen wearing heavy gloves, who have been going around bare-handed all the first cool days.

While we were contemplating this not-surprising occurrence, Big Train Akers dropped in to say the K club wanted some publicity on the game with Darnall hospital Saturday night. You see, it will cost students 10 cents plus their student tickets to get into the game, and the K club gets the profits. We have been wondering if Akers' work as publicity agent for the club is official, or whether he just took it on his shoulders because no one else wanted it.

Although we gather that the money derived from the admissions will be used for a worthy cause, we are not so much interested in that as we are in the fact that we hope the students will go to the game to give the team a boost here right at the first of the season. Nothing can discourage a team so much as not having anyone come out to watch them get all hot and tired for the glory of the Alma Mater. No one is worrying about exams yet, so why not relax at a ball game Saturday night. There is more room there than in a crowded theater, anyway.

Kentucky May Be Proud of Barkley

THE FREE LANCE—by Bob Warth

Kentucky has a man of whom it may justly be proud. Senator Alben Barkley wasn't fooling last June when he declared in his commencement address at the University of Kentucky that no one should be denied the right to vote for failure to pay a poll tax.

Senator Barkley was defeated in his fight for the anti-poll tax bill, but we hope that the principle he fought for was not. He was instrumental in focusing national, and even international, attention on an issue which, though insignificant in itself, could well be chosen as the pivot point between winning or losing the peace which is to follow this war. If the orthodox mentality and partisan self-interest displayed by the filibustering Southern Senators is to rule at the peace table also, we may as well begin laying plans in advance for World War

Many liberals who rent the air with lusty howls of impotent rage at the temerity of the filibuster at the present time missed completely this deeper significance of the action, naively assuming that its success merely postponed the day when Negroes and poor whites in the South would be enfranchised. Actually the abolition of the poll tax, even if held constitutional, would not have entitled a single Negro to vote in any of the eight Southern states where this feudal device of class prejudice is still enforced. To expect otherwise would be to sadly underestimate the ingenuity of Southern lawmakers who have the "grandfather clauses" and property, employment, understanding, and educational qualifications as additional safeguards to make sure that only the "right people" are allowed to vote.

As all who are familiar with the famous American institution of the filibuster know well, the United States Senate is the only legislative body in the world where a small group of dunderheads — or far-seeing statesmen, as the case may be—can effectively hamstring majority action whenever expedi-

ence, as it so often does, becomes the better part of common intelligence. Perhaps, then, the "system" and not the Senators are at fault, for Senators have to eat just as we do; and even Southern Congressmen, while they sport but few indications of anything but wholesome feeble-mindedness, know which side of the cornbread their peanut butter is on.

"The Aircraft Warning System gives a single plane on ground alert the equivalent striking power of 16 planes on air patrol." This startling statement comes from England.

Our country's Aircraft Warning Service—quite similar to England's—keeps a constant check on the flight of all aircraft. Should the need arise, it is prepared to send fighter planes aloft, to mobilize and direct ground defense forces, to warn endangered areas. Every step in its operation requires the fast, accurate communication of the telephone.

This is just one of the many wartime jobs that are keeping telephone lines busier than ever before. To help us keep lines clear for vital military and industrial calls, please avoid using Long Distance to war activity centers unless the call is urgent. And please keep all your telephone calls as brief as you can. Thank you.

WAR CALLS COME FIRST!

What kind of Future should a man prepare for?

One thing is certain. The future is going to be very different.

Now, as you finish your training, many of you with your war participation fully determined, the future of peace-time seems very remote.

It is a bridge we're all going to have to cross when we come to it. Nobody knows exactly what it will look like. But we do know that what lies on the other side will be largely what all of us together make it.

Even now, responsible men in industry are thinking how to make jobs for the men coming back from the services, and for the men now in war applications. It will be done by dreaming up new things to make, and new ways to make old things better.

This is being done by a combination of imagination and engineering, industry by industry. Here at Alcoa Aluminum we call it Imaginering. It is the thing that made our company the leader in its industry—that got aluminum ready to do the great job it is doing in this war. All our people practice Imaginering, as second nature, whether they are called engineers, or salesmen, or production men, or research men.

The future isn't going to be made out of laws, or pacts, or political shibboleths. The only kind of future worth having will come out of freedom to produce, and out of the Imaginering of men who make the things that civilization rests on.

If we could go back to college again, we would get ready to be an Imaginer, in whatever particular field our interests lay. The opportunity for young men with imagination is going to be unparalleled.

C. Edwin Barnes

This week's "Colonel of the Week" goes to C. Edwin Barnes, popular Arts and Sciences junior from Louisville.

Ed is secretary of Lances, honorary junior fraternity; house manager for Guignol productions; former staff sergeant of Pershing Rifles; and member of The Kentuckian staff.

He is also social chairman of the Sigma Chi fraternity; a member of the Forum committee; sergeant of the Color Guard; and a member of the Glee Club.

To show our appreciation of these achievements, we want to invite you to come in and enjoy any two of our delicious dinners.

Blue Basketeers Open Season With Exhibition Tilt Saturday

K Club Benefits From Game With Darnall Hospital

For the benefit of the K-Club, Coach Adolph Rupp's varsity basketeers will meet the Darnall General hospital five of Danville at 8 o'clock Saturday night in Alumni gym. Saturday's exhibition will be the first public showing of the season for the Wildcats—regarded as a question mark in Southeastern Conference circles.

The Baron's boys triumphed in a tough loop tourney in Louisville in February, but have lost most of the manpower that enabled them to regain the SEC diadem. From last year's quintet only three regulars remain. These are Milt Tico, forward; Mel Brewer, center; and Marvin Akers, guard.

Team May Develop

From a wealth of freshman and sophomore prospects Coach Rupp has fashioned a net combine that he predicts will "develop into a pretty good team." According to the Baron, "They're working hard, and coming along nicely." And when the Baron waxed enthusiastic there's trouble brewing.

These three holdovers will be on the starting lineup Saturday night, and rounding out the outfit will be sophomores Kenneth Rollins and Mulford Davis. Davis and Tico will start at forwards, Brewer at center, and Akers and Rollins at guards.

Paul Noel, Ed Lander, Jimmy Weber, Clyde Parker, and Bill Barlowe will also see plenty of action, says Coach Rupp, who sees a win Saturday night, but doesn't forecast a runaway. Only scrimmage against outsiders held by the Wildcats so far was a 99-33 rout of Transylvania, but the boys aren't cocky over this success.

Admission to the Darnall game is 10 cents to students, 50 cents to outsiders. All net proceeds go to the K-Club, an organization of let-terms in major sports.—B. M.

EAST-WEST TILT SET SATURDAY ON STOLL FIELD

The East-West game—the Shriners' annual grid fiesta between Kentucky's high school standouts—is scheduled for Saturday afternoon on Stoll field. A preliminary between the Chevy Chase and Strathmore Midgets will get the day's offering under way at 2 o'clock. Net proceeds will be given to the brace fund of the Shriners' Crippled Children's hospital.

Each squad's roster includes 25 senior players that starred in high school competition during the season just completed. Three of four games have ended in ties since the series started in 1938. The lone win was achieved by the East in 1940, 11-7.

"Hopper" Kennedy of Lynch is head mentor of the East forces, and is assisted by John Heber of Lexington's Henry Clay, and Capt. J. W. Rees of Millersburg Military Institute. Central Kentucky has seven boys on the roster, three of them being from Henry Clay. Sectionally speaking, northern Kentucky has four, the far eastern part seven and Cumberland valley four on the East roster.

Sports Activity Slows Up; Kappas, W AAs Lead Bowlers

By ALICE WATKINS
Women's Sports Reporter

With thoughts of exams first and foremost in the minds of everyone, there seems to be somewhat of a lull, and sports are playing second fiddle. However, promises are for big "doins" after vacation.

Still in progress are the bowling sessions, and there is quite a bit of competition among the contenders. Leaders after two weeks of rolling are the Kappas and W. A. A. teams, with the Chios and the Jewell hall group close on their heels.

The hockey season is over for the girls of the Women's Athletic Association, but most of them are still so enthusiastic about the game that they're ready for one final blast of it. Last word from Lucille Clark, who along with Agnes Smith manages the hockey team of the W. A. A., was that there would be a big session on Thursday at the athletic field behind the Union building.
